About Christy

In the late 1840's, Henry Christy returned to England from Constantinople with a loop pile fabric new to the Western World. By 1851 his brother Richard had mechanically reproduced this cloth and the first towels were shown at the Great Exhibition of 1851 at Crystal Palace where a set was presented to Queen Victoria who immediately ordered more. 160 years later, the Christy name is famous worldwide for creating the very finest towels—stunning colors and designs, beautiful yarns and proven quality. Using the finest fibers, constructions and finishes, Christy maintains its famous quality standards and continues to be innovative, utilizing natural luxury fibers, such as silk and micro modal in addition to the world's finest cottons.
